FIFTEEN CENTS

Queen's DUI dismissed; leaves Hadads angry

by LEE ANN MACKULIN

"As far as the way the whole case was handled...it was a rip-off right from the start," said Gary Hadad of Antioch Township.

"I paid $50 for a speeding ticket once and this man almost killed us and got off paying $75," said the infuriated Diane Hadad.

They are referring to the 1984 Christmas Day accident in which Oscar Queen, Antioch, ran head-on into the car in which the couple and their sons Jason and Jeremy were riding, in anticipating an enjoyable dinner at Hadad's parents' home.

Although causing the family to suffer immense physical and financial damage, Queen's DUI charges were dropped, requiring him to pay only $75 for misuse of lanes. Hadad is still out of work and parts of his wife's body are still paralyzed.

The fact is that Queen's blood tested out at .16 alcohol level and after the accident, admitted to drinking at a friend's house that afternoon.

The missing links...an attorney for the accused, a witness to verify the alcohol level in Queen's blood and a continuance to wait for these crucial people, which was denied.

A document from the Illinois State Crime Commission, stating that the test had been given and stating the alcohol level, was considered inadmissible evidence by McHenry Judge Thomas Schermerhorn.

"It's hearsay evidence, it's merely a letter," said Schermerhorn.

"There was no visual evidence to prove that he was drunk," he added.

Schermerhorn also pointed out that he was not informed of the missing witness until the trial was in progress.

"Had I been informed before the witnesses were sworn in that the man was not available, I would have granted the continuance," said Schermerhorn.

"The key issue is at what point the state informed me they did not have a witness," he said.

If the state asked for the continuance prior to the swearing in, the outcome may have been different, said Schermerhorn. It was a matter of the trial needing to be carried out, he explained.

"He was doing what he thought was best but regardless of his feelings, I feel that the judge should have granted a continuance," said state's attorney, Debbie Shipley.

"The state had a right to a continuance because the witness (that was absent) had a sound excuse. It's not like he was vacationing, he was in the hospital," said.

As far as Hadad is concerned two mistakes made; "you should have someone go to trial without someone should have been assigned."

"the state's attorney should have considered the paper was going to be serious."

"If they were just justice he deserves the continuance. push people possible," said.

In an effort to locate missing abducted juveniles in Lake County, Illinois State Enforcement Agencies to Recover Children (I-SEARCH), saw it's way to this area. The unit was started by the Lake County Sheriff's Dept. with the help of a $53,086 state grant.

Formed Feb. 25, the program saw immediate results, locating the first two youths in this area on March 4 and 5.

Stephen Gasperini, a 15-year-old from Lake Villa and Thomas Tate, Antioch, have both been found.

I-SEARCH presently has two full-time people dedicated to making the program successful. Cheryl Sireher, social worker, is responsible for physically contacting the parents and child and tries, if necessary, to work the child back into the home. She also provides long-term counseling in cases where it's needed.

Colleen Allen is active in generating media releases and making telephone contact with parents of missing children.

The program is initially beneficial for getting information on the safety of runaways already found, explains George Rose, in charge of the juvenile division. Before Ithe n-

Since the formation of missing Lake County youths in from 27 children to seven.

I-SEARCH is in the process of purchasing an IBM computer to keep track of missing children and also to keep profiles on sex offenders, child molesters and abductors.

"We're looking at federal grants set aside for missing children" to help the program along, said Rose.

I-SEARCH is recommending guidelines to parents to use to protect their children. Some are: teach them their full name, address and telephone number; teach them how to make long distance telephone calls; teach them never to go into anyone's house without parental permission and to walk with and play with others.

Anyone with information on missing, runaway or abducted children may call 244-KIDS in Lake County or a toll-free state number at 1-800-U-HELP-ME. The lines are open 24 hours a day.

Sequoits Lose To Grant In Regional

by MIKE PRAMSHAFER

The Antioch Community High School Varsity Basketball team had its season come to a quick end March 6 with a 58-52 loss to the Grant Bulldogs in the first round of the Antioch regional.

The Sequoits completed its disappointing 1984-85 season with a 10-16 overall mark and an 8-10 record in the North Suburban Conference (sixth place).

Antioch outplayed Grant in the first quarter, building a 12-6 lead going into the second period.

The Bulldogs then came back to close the gap to 24-21 at the half by outscoring the Sequoits 15-12 in the second period.

The game then started to break Grant's way in the third quarter as center Mark Kohl scored seven baskets to lead Grant to a 39-37 lead going into the final stanza.

The Bulldogs then slowed the game down and the Sequoits were unable to regain the lead.

Antioch was then forced to foul late in the game. Grant's Gary Hartig made five of seven free throws in the final period, along with Matt Dombrowski and Frank Wehrstein, who converted on three of four and three of three attempts respectively.

Antioch committed a total of 28 fouls to Grant's 18, which allowed the Bulldogs to shoot nine more free throws than the Sequoits (31-22).

Junior Don Gunther led Antioch in scoring with 13 points, while senior Dave Hart chipped in with 10 points.

Village announces opening of various bids

Opening bids for the removal of the sludge from the digester, located near the village garage, for blacktopping in the 1985 season and for an Oakwood Knolls storm sewer, was the main topic at the March 4 Antioch Village Board meeting.

Bids for the sludge removal and for the storm sewer will open April 15, 7:30 p.m. and April 1, 7:30 p.m. for the blacktopping.

In other business, the board announced signing of a ten-year lease for the old school house for use by the Lakes Region Historical Society.

The board also authorized the purchase of a fire hose for $5,000 from the Great Lakes Fire Equipments Co.

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce asked permission to hold a carnival behind the municipal building August 1-4 in honor of their annual Maxwell Street Days.

The Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any and all bids, to waive any informalities in any bid and accept and consider advantage to the village, according to Village Clerk, Marilyn Sterbenz.

ACHS students participate in conference

Thursday, Feb. 28 Mr. Keith Ewert, Distributive Education Coordinator, took seven D.E. students from Antioch Community High School to state conference in Rosemont.

The studying started the minute they arrived at the Hyatt O'Hare. Although State Conference sounds easy, there is nothing simple about the competencies. Each student was tested in a career area. They had a written math test consisted of mark ups and mark downs, buyer open to buy and discounts. It also included decimals, percentages, taxes for payrolls and story problems to solve.

The students competed in a hands-on role play for sales. This consisted of picking and setting up items and selling them to a customer. For the economics competencies there were a written 100 questions of retailing, operations, economic trends, marketing and basic economics. A few students thought that this one was the most difficult to comprehend.

Senior Pat Mercer, in food marketing at master employee level had a promotional personal selling role play. Mercer had to determine where to put items in a store's layout and justify his answer to a judge. He had only five minutes to figure the solution to the problem. Also, Mercer was to determine how to solve a problem on a business operation. The business operation was on when stock orders come into the store.

Junior Beth Davis, in General Retail merchandise at master employee level, had to create a display with bathroom items. She also had to create a solution for returning items back to the store after being sold. Davis had to do this by role playing in front of a judge at the State Conference.

Senior Wendy Stubner, in Apparel and Accessories at master employee level, had the product service role to play. This role play was that Stubner had to evaluate a product and to tell what media it should be advertised in. Stubner had accomplished above average in all her competencies, which awarded her a competency certificate.

Senior Brian Parkhurst, in food marketing at management level, had a human relation problem with store theft. When Parkhurst had to convince judges that a national brand item could be changed into a generic brand in the store's merchandise. He also did a fantastic sale on a personal cassette stereo. Parkhurst placed in the top eight in the state.

Senior Scott Prochnow, in Finance and Credit at master Employee level, had 15 minutes to read over the details of a problem which consisted of tardiness, absenteeism, human relations and performance. Prochnow also had a written math test on banking, interest or loans, Certificates of Deposits and installment loans. Prochnow placed as one of the top eight.

Senior Mike Reijonen, who competed in Apparel and Accessories at supervisor level, placed 3rd overall in his math test. Reijonen had only 10 minutes to analyze the problem for figuring out stock rates and train a new employee. He took first place in his math competency hands on with the judge. Reijonen had a difficult 100 questions in economics but did the job properly. He had top eight in the sales role play. Overall, Reijonen took third in state and he is now going to tackle National's in San Francisco in the first week of May.

Having to go in front of judges all alone was hard, but the seven D.E. students had overcome the fear and learned a lot about what it takes to become successful in a retail business.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

In like a Lion and out like a Lamb!! What I don't understand is, if it was beautiful March 1 but became lousy the next day, where does that put us — Lion or Lamb? Guess we'll find out the end of the month. Speaking of March — has everyone found all of their green clothing to celebrate in? I've heard there are lot's of things going on all over town!

Speaking of "ALL OVER TOWN," that is where you can see the Mayor walking these days! Doctor's orders, but the Doctor has also given him a complete BILL OF HEALTH so you may see him celebrating with a couple of green beers by the end of the week.

Boy! Is that new Chamber of Commerce Office hopping these days on Main St. They are BUSY, BUSY, in their new location. Does anyone know the little guy that keeps running in and out of the office all day? Is it one of Santa's Elves or a Leprechaun? Guess it depends on what time of the year it is.

I've been told Jim Fields is having to RUN his own campaign for a few days, as the gals in his family are basking in the sun in Florida. Can Jim and the boy handle it? Jim is not only running a Campaign but also running three miles I hear. (One day anyway — no one saw him come out of the house for the next two days) S'pose peace and quiet inside huh?

Students of Carol Maplethorpe were not all surprised that Carol passed every TEST she had to take in Victory Hospital last week. Welcome Home!

Students must also remember to grab their ID and go to the VFW Action Center, to the new Teen Center opening Friday, March 15.

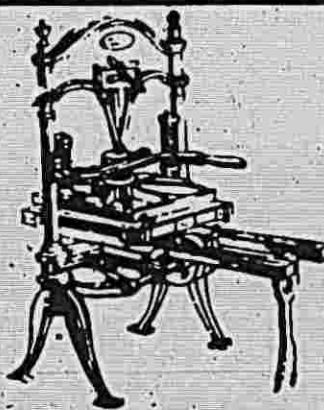

Hope the weather holding out, will help the finishing of the Historical Building and the new Senior Apartments which is named Orchard Manor, by the way!

Someone very interested in the weather holding out and is also walking around town is the new Meter Reader, Ron Kay.

Bob Weber was the lucky $200 winner at the St. Peters drawing last week and his sister Betty Sheehan received $25 for selling him the ticket. Congratulations!

Don't forget to get in the Easter Parade March 16. If you haven't already, be sure to call Glenda at the Parks Office (312) 395-2160 and let her know you are going to be there!

I am sorry I missed Ray Gallaher's Surprise 50th Birthday Party that he was inviting everyone to, and on the 9th. Ray, you don't look a day over 49. Also Birthday Congrats go to Barrie Gutowski on the 9th and New Teen, Scott Burrell on the 14th. Next year is Golden, Scott!

had from Jan. 25, when he plead not guilty and the trial date was set, to Feb. 25, when the trial was held, to get himself one, commented Hadad.

As a result of the accident, Diane Haddad suffered a broken vertebrae in her neck, brain contusions, was unconscious for days after the accident and was hospitalized for six weeks. Her entire left side was paralyzed, she must now wear a cane to get around and a head brace. It may take two years for the brain to heal itself, said Hadad.

Gary Hadad's left elbow and two ribs were broken, puncturing his lung. He still does not have full use of his left arm. Their son Jason suffered a concussion and was hospitalized for two weeks while Jeremy was not injured.

The medical bills could add up to $200,000 with a civil suit against the uninsured Queen impossible.

McDonald's workers spend McBucks

by LEE ANN MACKULIN

Have you ever dreamt of taking your boss' place...just for one day or maybe throwing a pie in his face? The employees at the Antioch McDonalds may get that chance.

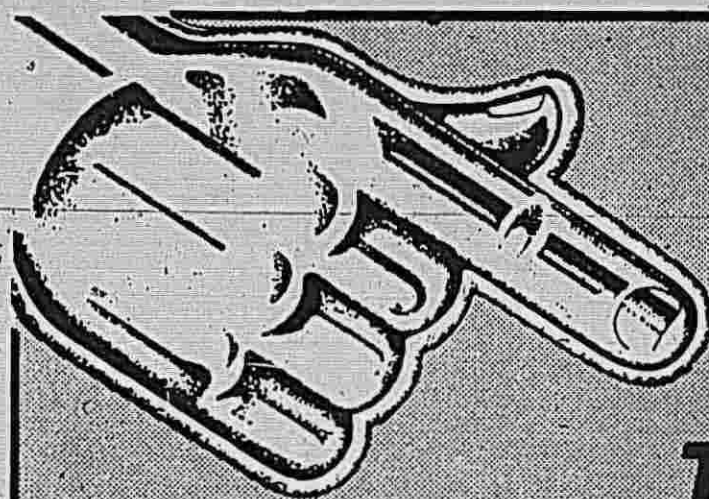

For the past few months, the workers have accumulated 'McBucks' for outstanding service or special gesture done on the job. On March 13, 7:30 p.m., they will get the chance to cash in their tokens for many different 'special' prizes. The auction will be held in the Brooks Room at the State Bank of Antioch.

Former Police Chief Jack Heik will come from Iowa to auction-off the available items. Heik was police chief in 1965.

Possible use of Soo Line

The North Suburban Mass Transit District (NOR-TRAN), with the assistance of the RTA and Northeast Illinois Rail Corporation (NIRC), has initiated the development of a feasibility study to determine the possible use of the Soo Line Rail Road as a commuter line. Communities which might be served under this proposal include: Antioch, Lake Villa, Grayslake, Mundelein, Vernon Hills, Lincolnshire, Buffalo Grove, Wheeling, Prospect Heights and Des Plaines with service to downtown Chicago.

The result of this cooperation effort has been the development by the NIRC of a Request for Proposal (RFP) for a feasibility study/alternatives analysis for commuter rail service on the Soo Line. The RFP invites consulting companies to submit a proposal to NIRC describing qualifications and a work plan for completing this project. The purpose of this study will assist the NIRC in determining whether passenger service in the Soo Line is feasible from an operating and engineering standpoint, and if feasible, what the most cost-effective way of providing such a service would be, and finally, given the most cost-effective alternative, what would the financial impacts of providing this service be and how many people would benefit from the service.

The NORTRAN Rail Operations Committee will review the RFP in February and then work with the NIRC and the consultant during the course of the feasibility study. We welcome input from your community which you feel would be beneficial in our efforts. Please contact Ed King, Assistant General Manager at (312) 297-0135 with your information, recommendations or questions.

The sixth annual band festival, sponsored by the Antioch Grade School Band Parents Association, will be held March 19 at the Upper Grade School, 800 Highview Dr., Antioch.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will feature a massed band of over 150 musicians coming from four different nearby grade schools including, Lake Villa Intermediate School, Lake

Villa, Gavin South School, Ingleside, Grass Lake School, Antioch and the Antioch Upper Grade School.

The students will rehearse all afternoon under the direction of guest conductor Michael Leckrone, director of bands at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

The concert will include many well-known songs.
